Delegation, Orders, and Initiation of Authorized Activities from an Accredited Veterinary Facility

Practice of Veterinary Medicine means the assessment of the physiological or behavioural status of an animal or group of animals, other than humans, and the diagnosis, treatment, prevention, or control of any condition, disease, disorder or dysfunction.

Veterinary Technician Member Performing Through Initiation*

 Veterinary Technician member sole accountability for performance

Sub-delegation of Authorized Activities not permitted

Veterinary Technician Member Performing Pursuant to Order(s)

- Veterinarian member accountable for development and oversight of order(s)
- Veterinary technician member accountable for adherence to order and performance

Sub-delegation of Authorized Activities not permitted

Authorized Activities Provided by the Veterinary Team

- Practised from an accredited veterinary facility
- · Veterinary Facility Director oversight
- Pursuant to an established Veterinarian-Client-Patient Relationship (VCPR)
- Member is competent to perform the activity

Direct Veterinarian Member Performance

 Veterinarian member sole accountability for performance

Delegation to Veterinary Technician Member

- Veterinarian member accountable for supervision
- Veterinary technician member accountable for performance

Sub-delegation of Authorized Activities not permitted.

Delegation to Auxiliary

 Veterinarian member sole accountability for performance